Equipment quarantine

The Quarantine and malfunction of equipment and personal protective clothing procedure (Version 02) has been published on the Equipment quarantine toolkit on the intranet.

Key points

The Quarantine and malfunction of equipment and personal protective clothing procedure is used by Operational Logistics and Health and Safety Branch to quarantine equipment which fails at an incident or during training so that the failure can be investigated.

The equipment quarantine process contributes to:

- Safer equipment.
- Improvements in the procurement and management of equipment.
- Improved training in the safe and effective use of equipment.

Highlights of the procedure include:

- A chain of custody process to track the movements of quarantined equipment.
- A new Equipment quarantine form which includes the chain of custody process.
- The stowing of quarantine bags on the primary response appliance at all fire stations.
- The stowing of quarantine bags on Duty Commander vehicles.

Who needs to read the plan?

All firefighters and all staff who use or manage operational equipment must read this procedure.

Rescindment

This procedure rescinds In Orders 2008/18, 'Equipment malfunctions and quarantine procedures'.
