National Memorial Service for fire and emergency service personnel

AFAC, the Australian and New Zealand National Council for fire and emergency services, will hold a memorial service honouring the courage and sacrifice of those who have died in the line of duty.

An AFAC memorial medallion will be presented to families of those who have died in the line of duty.

The service will also acknowledge additional names added to the memorial wall, which recognises those who have died in the line of duty since records began.

Members of Parliament and the media are invited to attend to assist in promoting the role of fire and emergency services and the commitment they make to keeping our communities safe.

The National Emergency Service Memorial is located at Rond Terrace, at the southern end of ANZAC Parade in Canberra. Metred parking is available in the CIT car park, with access to the site via the underpass at Parkes Way.
